Who we are

AMIMB was formed 30 years ago and has flourished because the membership believes there are strong reasons for our continued existence as an independent body. We are funded entirely by subscription income from full and associate members together with donations and awards from charitable grants and trusts.

What we do

AMIMB is well placed to inform government and the general public about the conditions of those held in custody based upon the objective observations of our members.

Our principles

We are committed to fairness and justice for all

We are and will remain independent of the government and the prison service

We reflect and act upon the views and concerns of our members

We work in partnership with other like-minded organisations to further our objectives

With your help we want to achieve

A reduction in re-offending and improved conditions for people in custody

Our Aims

To raise issues relating to people held in custody to the general public and to decision makers and to highlight the work of the many people who monitor the conditions for those in custody under which detainees are held.

To provide training, support, best practice advice and to keep our members informed with relevant information to maximise the effectiveness of our members.

We are grateful to our patron, Lord Phillips and our president, Baroness Vivien Stern for their continued support in getting our voice heard in government and elsewhere.
